

Asian Studies Honors Timeline

To be done prior to registering for ASIAN 495: Honors Thesis—

- ___ Meet with an ALC Academic Advisor to declare an Honors major
- ___ Narrow down your topic or project idea; it is recommended that students take ASIAN 381 to help with this process
- ___ Find an ASIAN 495 project advisor relating to your area/project idea
 - The advisor must be a professor within the Department of Asian Languages and Cultures
 - Contact the Department if you would like to be assigned to an advisor, rather than finding one on your own
- ___ Put together a reading list and work with your advisor to define your thesis topic
- ___ Obtain an ASIAN 495 proposal form from the department office
- ___ Draft the required proposal and bibliography; revise it with your project advisor

To be done the semester you wish to register for and complete ASIAN 495—

- ___ Submit a final draft of your proposal and bibliography, with the signed ASIAN 495 form attached, to the Student Services Assistant – either via email (ALC-studentservicesassistant@umich.edu) or in person (STB 4111) (last day of class of the previous term; i.e. last day of Fall term for Winter term enrollment/completion)
- ___ Register for ASIAN 495 on Wolverine Access after receiving approval of your project from the Director of Undergraduate Studies and an override into an ASIAN 495 section
- ___ Meet with your project advisor to create exact due dates for every part of your project
- ___ First full draft submitted to your project advisor (no later than week 10 of the term)
- ___ Present at the ALC Honors Colloquium (2 to 3 weeks before the end of the term)
- ___ Final draft submitted to your project advisor and second reader (no later than week 13 of the term)
- ___ Receive an Honors Recommendation from your project advisor (by the first day of finals)
