Mentoring

For the past 15 years I have mentored 25 undergraduate students (19 women, seven underrepresented racial/ethnic minorities, five first generation students), served as advisor or co-advisor to six Ph.D. students and nine Masters students (five from the Frontier's Masters program, a bridge-to-Ph.D. program for students of groups underrepresented in science). I also have served as a member of Ph.D. dissertation committees for eight students (six from the US and two from Mexico) and three for Master's students. Beside training my students in molecular techniques and analyses I have provided training in my lab to one Ph.D. and two Masters student from different departments at UM (Anthropology and SNRE), one Ph.D. student from Stony Brook University, one Ph.D. and four Master's students from Mexico, one undergraduate student from Puerto Rico, one undergraduate student from Ecuador, and one postdoctoral woman fellow from South Africa. I also serve as a mentor to a visiting scholar from the Central Botanical Garden of the National Academy of Sciences of Belarus (Dr. Nastassia Vlasava) and to two junior research faculty, at the level of Assistant Research Scientist (Cody Thompson and Gabriel Arellano).
